

Hard to see? Difficulties of Studying Slow and Structural Violence

Workshop Schedule

9.00–9.15	Arrival and Welcome by the Organizers
9.15–10.00	Introduction and Framework Discussion	Julia Leser and Felix Anderl: What You See is What You Beget? Methodological Points of Departure for Observing Structural Violence
10.00–11.10	Panel 1: Environmental Destruction and Resistance	Johanna Kocks: Contesting Slow Violence as “Out of Sight”: Witnessing and Experiencing Environmental Destruction on Ilha de Maré
		Dani Haudenschild: Exploring Emergent Infrastructural Violence in the Conflict over the Autobahn A49
11.10–11.30	Coffee Break
11.30–12.40	Panel 2: Understanding Violence Across Material and Epistemological Divides	Riccarda Flemmer: But We Need a Common Understanding ...? Indigenous Participation and Onto-Epistemological Violence in Environmental Conflicts
		Hendrik Simon: Solidarity Through Trust? Challenges and Opportunities for Cohesion in Fragmented Contemporary Capitalism
12.40–13.40	Lunch Break
13.40–15.15	Panel 3: Racialized Violence and Migration	Dyana Rezene: The Slow Violence of Fast Trials
		Sifka Etla Frederiksen: Violence Lost in Translation? Examining the Enactment of Violence and Protection in Refugee Accommodation through Data Practices

		Peter Lockwood: ‘You Can’t Refuse Him’: The ‘Slow Violence’ of Colonial Land Alienation in Rural Central Kenya
15.15–15.30	Coffee Break
15.30–16.30	Panel 4: Activism in the Face of Violence	Lam-Phuong Nguyen Pham: Poetry, Proverb and Folktale: Understanding Violence Through the Embodiment of Feminine/Feminized Resistance
		Nina Krienke: Derailing Protest: A Form of (Political) Violence?
16.30–17.00	5–10 minutes’ walk	Transfer to CNMS
17.00–18.30	Keynote	Tania Li: Do We See What Our Interlocutors See? Bridging Divergent Perspectives on Structural Violence